

KILAUEA OVERFLOWS.

WALLS OF THE BURNING LAKE FALL IN.

The Slight is Described as One of Magnificent Grandeur—Numerous Fountains of Fire.

By the arrival of the Kinai this morning the news has been received of the overflow of the Volcano of Kilauea. The following details are obtained from Philip Peck, the Hotel-street importer, who visited the volcano on Friday last in company with Superintendent of Public Works W. E. Rowell:

The volcano has been constantly increasing in activity for a week past, and was particularly lively on Thursday evening, when as many as fifteen magnificent fountains of fire were sent up at one time from the bubbling and seething mass. These fiery columns were so high as to be seen from the veranda at the Volcano House, two miles distant. The sight from that place on Thursday night was indescribably grand, and is said never to have been equaled in former years.

On Friday evening, when Messrs. Peck and Rowell made their visit, the fountains were still playing, but were not so high or large as on the previous night. Both gentlemen went to the very edge of the burning lake, which at that time was more than full, the molten lava in the center being fully two feet higher than at the edges. Mr. Peck described the immense lake as being in a similar state to a glass of water which is more than full and yet does not overflow. At times the burning mass would slop over in places and flow into the main pit ten or fifteen feet below, but a new crust would soon form and the flow stop. Mr. Rowell had a narrow escape from one of these sudden overflows, but got out of the way in time. Both gentlemen speak of the scene as most magnificent and utterly indescribable in its grandeur.

On Saturday night the volcano was in the same condition as on the previous one, but the lava commenced to overflow in a steady stream. On Sunday about 7 p.m. the entire walls fell in and the lake itself has spread out to the full extent of the pit, and now forms a molten mass about one-half by one-third of a mile in extent. After the break-down the lava was very active, the fountains and columns being more violent than ever. The view from the hotel was then marvellous. From another source it is learned that a sharp shock of earthquake was felt at the volcano on Sunday night, and more or less throughout the entire island, although at Hilo it was scarcely perceptible.

IRWIN'S BIG PROFITS.

A Neat Little Venture for Hawaii's Consul-General to Japan.

EDITOR STAR: The so-called passage money of Japanese immigrants from their home to Yokohama, $15 50 in Japanese currency, that is claimed by Mr. Irwin as $13 17 in United States gold, but in reality only $9 at present, ought to be paid by Mr. Irwin out of the amount—$40 in United States gold—received from planters as passage money of an immigrant between Yokohama and Honolulu.

Forty dollars in United States gold is equal at present to about $65 in Japanese currency, the rate being $1 to $1 65 now.

The passage money of an immigrant between Yokohama and Honolulu, which is paid by Mr. Irwin to the Japanese steamship company under special arrangement, is understood to be but $25 in Japanese currency, or $16 in United States gold.

Therefore if both this passage and the $15 50 (in Japanese currency) be paid out of the amount received from planters, the balance on hand, a net profit, is $25 50 in Japanese currency. But the passage money from the homes of the laborers to Yokohama is not, I suppose, particularly paid, but is included among that between Yokohama and Honolulu. The fact is that the steamers chartered for their transportation to Honolulu are always sent to the nearest ports and take the men on board there.

Hilo Notes.

The fire department is having two or three drills weekly and is attaining great efficiency. George Sandeman, an old Honolulu fireman, is foreman of Engine Company No. 1, with William Vannette as assistant and Jack Wilson of the Volcano stables as engineer. They make a good team.

It is reported that the Spreckels crowd are gobbling up all the Hilo town property they can get, and that they now own or control a mile of the water front.

Twenty-three and a half miles of the Volcano road are completed, besides many sections beyond that point. The big Lurline is due from San Francisco; also, the Amelia, from the Sound, with lumber for C. C. Richardson.

LOTS OF SUGAR.

The Third Beet Sugar Campaign Starts Off Auspiciously.

A prolonged whistle at the sugar factory on Monday morning announced that another sugar-making campaign was inaugurated, says The Champion, and that the saccharine elements stored up from the soil and the sun's rays during the past few months over the broad acres of Chino valley were being converted into the bright sugar crystals for use in the kitchens and on the tables of thousands of homes over this land. In and about the factory everything is moving on orderly, yet with the greatest activity. The improved facilities for unloading permits this to be done very rapidly, yet without any apparent rush or confusion. Although the work is not yet up to full capacity, yet up to this morning there had been delivered at the factory 2161 tons of beets.

The yield of beets is reported generally good—in number of fields better than was expected. There is a very large acreage on the Chino ranch that will yield over twenty tons per acre. The sugar percentage is increasing every day. The warm, clear weather prevailing is just what is needed to mature beets of good quality.

The first few days of the run are necessarily much below the full capacity of the factory, but everything is now working into good shape, and before many days the full capacity will probably be reached.

Up to this morning the output of sugar was 222,581 pounds, or 111½ tons. The first shipment was made yesterday morning, when three carloads were started out to San Francisco labeled with large placards "Chino Beet Sugar." Three more were sent out this morning. A trainload of sugar a day is really a wonderful product to be shipped from this valley. It means much in the industrial economy of this country, and especially in these times of financial distress when thousands of men in other localities are casting about to see where their daily bread is to come from.—San Bernardino Courier.

LOST OFF MAULUA BAY.

AND PROBABLY DEVoured BY SHARKS.

A Tahitian Sailor Falls Overboard From the Schooner Kamoi and is Seen No More.

On Friday afternoon last, while the schooner Kamoi was about eight miles off the Hamakua coast of Hawaii, nearly opposite the entrance of Maulua Bay, a sailor named Appi, a native of Tahiti, fell overboard and was lost.

The schooner was on her way from Honolulu to Kohala, and Appi was standing on the lee rail fixing the boomguard, when the schooner gave a lurch, he lost his hold and fell into the sea. As quick as possible, those on board threw over some planks and a life preserver, and the schooner was brought up into the wind and a boat lowered. Appi was seen waving his hand a short time after he fell into the sea, but by the time the vessel was brought up and the boat reached the spot, he had disappeared. As the man was a powerful swimmer it is supposed he must have been devoured by sharks which abound in that neighborhood, as he could easily have reached the boat or vessel otherwise. He was about thirty years of age, and is said to have made his home in this city.

CIRCUIT COURT MATTERS.

Chris. Gertz Found Guilty and to Be Sentenced To-morrow.

At the close of the Gertz trial yesterday afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was ordered to appear for sentence this morning. At this morning's session the case was again put off until to-morrow.

The case of Yakichi, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, was reduced to that of simple assault and the defendant then pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

In the case of Ah Chew, charged with keeping a lodging house without a license, the Court ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on a legal point raised by the defendant's counsel, Judge Hartwell. The point raised was that the so-called lodgers were really tenants, and therefore the defendant did not keep a lodging house.

The divorce case Haili (w) vs. Nawai Namailou, is on trial before Judge Cooper to-day.

In the matter of the estate of Harriet Needles Jones, deceased, the petition of the executors, David Dayton and G. W. C. Jones, for the hearing of their petition for a final accounting and discharge has been filed.

In the case of Ahlo vs. Tai Lung a judgment of $65 22 has been entered in favor of defendant for costs of the action.

MURDERED AT LAHAINA.

OVER A DISPUTE ABOUT A GAMING DEBT.

One Japanese Crushes in the Skull of Another With a Stone in a Burying Ground.

Sheriff Chillingworth of Maui received word about a quarter past three on Monday morning that another Japanese murder had been committed at Lahaina. He at once communicated with Dr. Maraura, the Japanese agent at Wailuku, and in company with him rode over to Lahaina, where he found the facts to be these: Two Japanese, Seki Yasugoro and Ishizuka, the latter being the murdered man, had quarreled about the payment of a small sum of money, a gambling debt of $1 25, and agreed to fight over it. They went together to a place known as the Threeway burial ground, and there had a battle resulting in the death of Ishizuka. The unfortunate man was killed by a blow on the left temporal bone inflicted with a large stone which is now in the possession of Deputy Sheriff Hose. Dr. Davidson made an autopsy, at which Sheriff Chillingworth was present. The skull was found to be crushed in and broken into fragments. The physician says that death must have been instantaneous. Prior to the arrival of the Sheriff his deputy had impounded and sworn a coroner's jury. After viewing the body the inquest was adjourned to yesterday, the whole of the day being occupied in taking testimony, after which it was again adjourned to September 6th.

A warrant has been issued in the meantime and the murderer arrested. The man acknowledged that he did go to the Threeway burial ground with the deceased man and that there was no other person present. The murdered man formerly lived in Wailuku, where he was a professional gambler and was afterwards driven out by the continued arrests of himself and countrymen. Within a short time Deputy Sheriff Hose had cautioned him and told him he must find employment or a charge of vagrancy would be presented against him. He expects to be able to prove that the man's death was the result of a plot, in which several others besides the accused were interested. It is also said that the Japanese gamblers have a duelling code among themselves, which accounts for the absence of others than the murdered man and his slayer.

RETURNED TO HAWAII.

Eight Japanese Laborers Deported From California.

The steamer Australia on its trip before the last took a number of Japanese laborers to San Francisco, eight of whom were returned by the Mariposa soon afterwards. They were detained at San Francisco on the ground that they did not fulfill the requirements of the new Alien Labor Act, not having the sum of thirty dollars in cash each, which is one of its many conditions. The Japanese employed counsel and appealed their case to Washington on the ground that interpreter Gefney had misinterpreted their statements. They were beaten in that, however, and ordered deported, as Mr. Gefney was able to prove that he had been raised in Japan and spoke the language better than many natives. He was at one time a resident of this city.

MORE INCENDIARISM.

Thirty Acres of Niuli Sugar Cane Burnt Over.

By the Kinai to-day news was received of an incendiary attempt to burn the cane on the Niuli plantation in the Kohala district, Hawaii. The fire started in a thirty-acre field, which was being cut, and swept over the entire tract. C. F. Hart, the owner of the mill and plantation, writes that he will be able to cut and crush the entire lot of the burnt cane this week, and that there will not be much loss. The fire started on Saturday morning, and strenuous efforts are being made to discover the incendiary.

"The Wind Blew Through His Whiskers."

A correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch says that the very objectionable bit of slang, "The wind blew through his whiskers," is not American at all. In fact, he says, it was first used by an Englishman, one Dan Chaucer, who wrote the "Canterbury Tales." In the tale of "The Shipman" occurs this remarkable line, "With many a tempest had his beard been shaken."
